SOTA's Garlic Fried Rice

Makes approximately 4 cups of vegetables

Ingredients:

- 1 medium head of cauliflower
- 4 tbsp avocado oil
- 2/3 cup sliced scallions
- 4 tbsp Kikkoman soy sauce or Bragg liquid amino acids
- 1-1 ½ tbsp chili garlic sauce
- 2-3 eggs optional

Instructions:

- Cut and trim the cauliflower into florets.
- "Rice" the cauliflower by using a food processor with the grater attachment, pulsing it in a food processor with a s-blade, or grating it by hand with a cheese grater.
- Transfer the riced cauliflower to a large piece of cheese cloth, nut-milk bag, or kitchen towel. Twist the cloth and squeeze out as much water as possible.
- Add 1 tbsp of avocado oil to a large pan and heat over medium heat,
- Add in the riced cauliflower and cool for 4-5 minutes stirring occasionally.
- While in a small bowl add in the soy sauce, remaining avocado oil, and chili garlic paste-mix well.
- Add the sauce to the pan, turn up the heat to medium-high, and cook for 5-7 minutes. Stir frequently, or until the 'rice' develops a nice golden color throughout.
- Divide the rice into 2 bowls and garnish with fresh scallions, if desired.

Animal protein addition:

- Scramble and cook the eggs, toss into the cooked cauliflower rice.
- Refrigerate the leftovers.
